All Request for Independency Status Appeals must provide the following documentation:

- 2016 Tax Return Transcript
- Copies of all 2016 W-2's
- Independent Verification Worksheet
- Additional required documentation is listed on 2nd page of appeal

PURPOSE:

The purpose of this appeal is to prove independency for those students who do not meet the independency criteria set forth by the U.S. Department of Education in Step 3 of the 2018-2019 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

GENERAL INFORMATION:

The basic premise underlying student financial aid is that it is the responsibility of the student and his or her family to pay educational costs. However, students who have extreme or extenuating circumstances may be considered to have their status changed through an appeal process.

Note: Submission of the FAFSA is to determine what level of contribution should be expected from the family. For low-income families, this contribution is often zero or minimal; a change in dependency may have little or no influence on the student's eligibility for financial aid.

The following are examples of extreme or extenuating circumstances which may be considered on appeal. However these circumstances do not guarantee an approval to Independent status:

- You are a refugee whose parent(s) are in another country*;
- You have a documented case of abuse*;
- You have been legally removed from your parent(s) home*.

*Documentation of the applicable circumstances must accompany the appeal.

Examples of circumstances (but not limited to) that ARE NOT considered extreme or extenuating. Typically, these circumstances are not a basis for an appeal:

- You don't live with your parent(s);
- You have not been in contact with your parent(s);
- Your parent(s) have not claimed you on their Federal income taxes;
- Your parent(s) refuse to complete their portion of the FAFSA;
- Your parent(s) don't want to help pay for your education
- You have income sufficient to support yourself;
- You received financial aid as an independent student in previous school years;
- You are not a refugee, but your parent(s) live in another country;
- You are divorced or widowed
- You were a ward of the state (not to be confused with Ward of the Court)

Required Documentation for Extreme or Extenuating Circumstances:

Under extreme or extenuating circumstances the Office of Student Financial Aid may review the dependent status for students. If you have extreme or extenuating circumstances, you MUST complete the following required documentation, failure to submit the documentation will result in a denial:

- Personal letter of explanation regarding how you came to support yourself and the time period you have done this. Describe the events in your family, which led to your current separation from them. If you are receiving support from friends or relatives, describe the nature of that support (monies received; housing; food; clothing; etc.) and who provides the support. Provide any and all information, which you feel will help to outline your situation.
- Signed and dated letter from a professional (clergy, counselor, teacher, etc.) that can document your extreme or unusual circumstances. This letter should be on letterhead from the individual's employment along with contact information. A letter from a friend or family member is not acceptable.
- Copies of all applicable court, police or legal documentation pertaining to your circumstance.

Renewal of Dependency Override (ONLY for students who have previously been approved at CCC):

If you received financial aid as an Independent student at CCC based on an appeal submitted previously, you are required to resubmit an appeal each academic year. The circumstances under which you were granted independency must be reaffirmed. Please check the appropriate box and provide required documentation.

- The special circumstances under which I was granted Independency status in 2017-2018 have not changed. Provide any documentation that updates and/or reaffirms your situation.
- My circumstances have changed. Please attach documentation of changes along with a personal letter of explanation. Attach any documentation which updates your status. You may be asked to provide additional documentation.
