Justin Eaton, a retired U.S. Coast Guard veteran, came to CCC to study business management when the outbreak hit and he had to take classes remotely.

“It was a bit of adapting, but it wasn’t hard,” he said. With a dream of managing a business in the restaurant industry, he’s already met with an advisor and is ready for the fall semester at CCC to keep his studies on track.

“I’m ready to go. I know what I need to do here, so I want to get it knocked out before I move onto NAU.”

“I decided to go back to school, basically, to do something different. I’ve always had this need that I wanted to help people, and I thought that maybe I was put here for that reason.”

Cultural Anthropology

“I started taking Dual Enrollment and CAVIAT (Coconino Association for Vocations, Industry and Technology) courses in high school. Medical Assistant has been a passion of mine from the start, since I was really young. I’ve really wanted to become part of the medical field. Hopefully, the end goal is becoming a medical doctor.”
